ABOUT THE ARTIST

Hadid Cortez was born in Montemorelos, Mexico in 1996. His musical education began in Berrien Springs, MI when his family moved to Andrews University. He started violin lessons at age 8 under Gregory Arutyunyan as well as piano lessons. He later became a student of Carla Trynchuk and composition student of Marjorie Rushe at the University of Notre Dame until moving back to Mexico to continue violin studies under Natalya Semanivska. While in Mexico, Hadid performed frequently in the University of Montemorelos as soloist and as part of the University Orchestra as well as other musical groups. Hadid is currently pursuing a Bachelor of Arts in Religion and another Bachelor of Arts in Music at Andrews University where he has studied violin under Claudio Gonzalez and Carla Trynchuk and plays in the University Orchestra. In addition to violin, Hadid plays piano and enjoys composing music.
