About the Soloist

Ricardo Reyna was born in the United Mexican States, and began his music education at the age of twelve with Jonathan Pacheco Villareal in Guadalajara, Mexico. In 2009, trumpet became his main instrument and joined the brass quintet of Vicente Guerrero Academy. From 2011 – 2015, Reyna continued his education at Montemorelos University, where he joined several ensembles such as the Montemorelos University Symphonic Band, Brass Ensemble UM and CIMUM Youth Orchestra. Over the course of those four years, he studied trumpet with Alonso Armenta Monarrez, OSUANL principal trumpet at the time, and toured with the ensembles around Mexico and Texas.

Since 2013, Reyna has also participated in several music festivals as the Merida International Brass Festival where has taken master classes from great artist such as Yamaha Artists Jens Lindeman, James Ackley, Romain Leleu, Stomvi Artist Pacho Flores, among others.

In 2015, Reyna received the “Dare to Dream” scholarship to come to Andrews University; since then, he has been a member of the AU Wind Symphony and AU Symphony Orchestra. Some of his performances with the Wind Symphony include Thailand, Italy, and the US under the direction of Alan Mitchell, Dr. Claudio Gonzalez and Dr. Byron Graves. Reyna is an active performer that has also played with the South Shore Community Band and St. Joseph Municipal Band.

Ricardo Reyna is currently a senior pursuing a Bachelors of Music degree in Trumpet Performance at Andrews University studying under the direction of Charles Steck.
