FROM THE DEPARTMENT CHAIR

Robson Marinho, PhD

Welcome to the Academic Year 2013-2014!

The new academic year has taken off and is flying fast! I hope all of you have already registered and are starting the New Year with a renewed commitment to make good progress in your program journey. Just in case you didn’t register yet, please talk to your advisor and complete your registration immediately!

A new year is always a new opportunity to advance your program towards completion of your academic goals. And as you renew your commitment, I would like to remind you of a few important things to consider as you begin this academic year: I hope you take full advantage of this new opportunity and enjoy a successful academic year!
Leadership Department says Goodbye to Marji!

The Leadership Department took time to bid farewell and celebrate the contribution of Marji Bates. Marji’s hard work, dedication, creativity and humor has been an inspiration to many in the department and she will be greatly missed. The event was a “purple affair” filled with fun and laughter. Many students, staff and faculty members shared their cherished testimonies and experiences of Marji’s influence in their lives and there was even a bit of singing and “dancing”! We hope you enjoy these moments that were captured as we said goodbye to Marji.
LEADERSHIP PROGRAM NEWS

Congratulations August Graduates!
Graduations are a time of joy for graduates, family members and the faculty. After years of diligence commitment, the long awaited day arrives. We celebrate with those who have endured and completed this phase of their dreams and aspirations. Congrats Graduates!
Congratulations Sandy Walther, PhD!
Sandra Walther successfully presented her portfolio on August 18 at one of her Leadership and Learning group meetings with Drs. Covrig, Freed, and Brand as faculty representatives and was introduced as our newest doctor, Dr. Walther.

“It was a truly wholistic experience for me” noted her advisor, Duane Covrig. “Sandy presented at her house in Troy, where her LLG has meet dozens of times over the last decade. The weather was wonderful and we celebrated in her pool afterword. It was what portfolio presentations should be: extensions of the graduates wholistic development.” In fact, since then, Dr. Covrig has been encouraging all those planning a portfolio presentation for this year to find a place where there presentation can symbolize their overall development.

Sandy shared her amazing leadership journey and the family, physical and work related challenges she faced and overcame. She also shared her new challenges and her overall plans to continue to grow as a leader: body, mind, social and spiritual.

Her house was nearly empty as she was moving that night to a new place. And as we have come to expect, Sandy was excited about her next challenges (except the major shoulder surgery that she had the next week and it went successfully). Sandy we are proud of your life and it is a holistic example of why this program seeks to create scholar practitioners who can change the world.

Online Tutorial for IRB Applicants

Beginning January 1, 2013, applications for approval by the Andrews University Institutional Review Board (IRB) will require the inclusion of certificates of completion for the National Institutes of Health Online Training Tutorial, http://phrp.nihtraining.com/, for all principal and co-investigators listed on the IRB application. For applications submitted by student researchers, a certificate of completion for the faculty research advisor should also be included. The tutorial will take an average of about two hours to complete and covers the basic ethical principles of respect for persons, beneficence, and justice that guide all research involving human subjects.

- Respect for persons indicates “first, that individuals should be treated as autonomous agents, and second, that persons with diminished autonomy are entitled to protection.” Thus, respect for persons includes “the requirement to acknowledge autonomy and the requirement to protect those with diminished autonomy.”
- Beneficence means to protect individuals from harm. Specifically, beneficence is the obligation to “(1) do not harm and (2) maximize possible benefits and minimize possible harms.”
- Justice means there should be “fairness in distribution” both of the risks and the benefits of the research.

Upon completion of the tutorial, a Certificate of Completion is provided that will be valid for three years. More information is available on the Andrews University IRB Webpage, http://www.andrews.edu/services/research/institutional_review/.
