ABOUT THE ARTIST

Carlan Alexander Melbourne Cogen began his piano career at the age of six. After continuously listening to his older brother and older cousins, he was driven to be just like them. From his first piano teacher, Marjay Contour, Carlan quickly grasped the art of playing the piano. For years, Carlan would grow musically until the age of 12 through 18, where Carlan would study under Rose-Eide Altman and Dr. Daniel Lau at Washington Adventist University. During this time span, Carlan's musical knowledge grew where he learned proper technique, expression, and musicality. This gave him the ability to accompany the Takoma Academy Chorale during his high school years under Mrs. Lulu Muphumbu. These experiences gave him a love for music pushing him towards a Bachelor of Science in Music during his collegiate years. Throughout the last four years, Carlan has had the privilege of studying under Dr. Chi Yong Yun at Andrews University. Dr. Yun has completely transformed Carlan's approach to the piano. Not only through his musicality and expression, but with also his technique and posture. Pushing his limits, she allowed him to achieve more musically than he ever imagined. After graduating with a Bachelors of Science in Music with a minor in Business Administration, Carlan will be taking a year off working on his Masters in Healthcare Administration while applying to Medical School.
