

10-2002

Unclassified

Andrews University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.andrews.edu/unclassified>

 Part of the Library and Information Science Commons

Recommended Citation

Andrews University, "Unclassified" (2002). Unclassified. 36.
<https://digitalcommons.andrews.edu/unclassified/36>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the James White Library at Digital Commons @ Andrews University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Unclassified by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Andrews University. For more information, please contact repository@andrews.edu.

IT MADE THEIR DAY!

Multiple Prize-winners at Library Fair

The second James White Library Fair on Sunday, September 8, was well attended by more than 200 students plus a sprinkling of faculty and staff. Fifty people took away prizes with a combined value of $2,000, and each person received a goodybag containing several discount coupons. In addition there were free cookies, pasties, fudge samples, and juice for everyone. Live music was provided by Cardinal Number.

Running with the theme "Sailing the Great Lakes to Information", the Fair tested the knowledge and search skills of participants in relation to the Great Lakes. "These lakes are right at our doorstep and yet we know so little about them," commented Sabrina Riley, Instruction Librarian, who led an energetic team of library staff members in organizing the successful Fair program.

On arrival, each person was handed a "passport" card displaying a map of the lakes. By presenting their card at the dozen or so stations throughout the library, participants could try a simple game or quiz and receive a colored sticker. Each floor of the James White Library represented one of the five great lakes. "East I-94" signs directed participants downstairs to Lake Erie (lower level) where a tunnel of lights led to Canadian passport control at the Periodicals Department. At the Architecture Resource Center, visitors tried their creativity by sketching the Mackinac bridge, while the Music Materials Center featured songs of the Great Lakes states. At the end of the day, everyone who acquired eight or more stickers on their "passports" was entered into a drawing for the grand prize.

There were three grand prize winners. Luckie Henderson, a freshman accounting/psychology major, was the undergraduate winner of a dozen red roses; Yanique Blackwood, a PT graduate student, received a $50 gift certificate from Target Stores; and the community prize-winner was Irmgard Gallos, wife of a seminary student, who took away a Whirlpool Kitchenaid Stand Mixer.

YOU CAN CHECK ORDER STATUS OF LIBRARY MATERIALS

The status of all items ordered by the library is shown in the Library Catalog. Just search by the title of the item and you can find out whether the item is on order, arrived and being processed, on the new book shelf, or available for check-out.

Reports are no longer sent out each month to individual selectors to report items ordered and cataloged. Individuals or departments still wanting to receive these reports should contact the Acquisitions Office (ext. 3208) or their Liaison Librarian to make special arrangements. Departments will continue to receive monthly budget reports.

LOOKING FOR DISPLAY

OPPORTUNITIES?

Educational and artistic displays are being sought for the library's exhibition areas. These exhibit spaces are available to promote the programs of university departments and groups, showcase the creativity of members of the university and local community, and create an awareness of subjects of interest to the university and local community.

Two spaces are available: a locked, glass display case 15' x 4' 4" x 15" on the main floor between the circulation desk and seminary library; and two opposing walls 24' in length in the reference room. Individuals or departments wishing to utilize either of these spaces should contact Lauren Matacio, Chair, Cultural Events Committee (ext. 6062, matacio@andrews.edu) or their Liaison Librarian.

CHECK OUT THESE EXHIBITS

... Coming Soon on the Main Floor

Art by AU alumnus, Nicholas Jones, will be displayed in the Reference Room; and a display on the history of music notation, coordinated by Linda Mack, Music Librarian, in the Main Floor Lobby display case.

... At the Center for Adventist Research

The Center for Adventist Research has two new exhibits. One shows the context and background for the King James Version of the Bible. It also shows the impact this version of God's Word has had on the English language and what notable thinkers have said about the Book.

The other exhibit shows the development and growth of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in the Asia-Pacific Divisions. Through text showing the earliest years and photographs of some of the people and places from those years, the viewer can get a taste of how God has led in that vibrant part of the world.

... At the Architecture Resource Center

Thanks to the innovation of a student assistant, Lyndsay Ringwelski, the ARC library has initiated a series of weekly book displays entitled Discovering Your Library: ARC week-to-week. These displays have already received a lot of attention from those who regularly use the Center. However, students and faculty from other parts of the campus as well are invited to stop by regularly and check out what is available in this building on the outer edge of campus.

Architecture draws from many disciplines. This is exemplified by the diversity of titles in the ARC collection of approximately 25,000 books. Each week's display features books on a particular topic. Come by the ARC anytime this school year and find out what you might otherwise be missing. Upcoming displays will be as follows:

October 7-11	Environmental Psychology
October 16-18	Homes
October 21-25	Fine Art
October 28- Nov. 1	Institutions
November 4-8	Islamic Architecture
November 11-15	Social Work
November 18-22	European Architects
November 25-26	Phenomenology
December 2-6	Sacred Places
December 9-12	Universal Design

LIBRARY PEOPLE

Cynthia Helms (Head, Information Services Department) is author of an article published in the Journal of Interlibrary Loan, Document Delivery & Information Supply, volume 12, 2001. The article, entitled "The Impact of Databases on Interlibrary Loan Borrowing", summarizes and interprets results from a ten-year study at James White Library.

Marilyn Gane (Head, Periodicals Department) and Keith Clouten (Library director) have co-authored an article entitled "New Directions in Serials Management" to be published shortly in Collection Management volume 27, published by Haworth Press. The article builds on experience gained through implementation of the James White Library Periodicals Plan 2000.

Larry Onsager (Head, Patron Services Department) reports that the Patron Services Department has a strong international flavor with students from Africa, Asia, the Pacific Islands and Europe. The languages spoken include Romanian, Samoan, Indonesian, Croatian, Chinese, Czech, Slovakian, Polish, Serbian, and Bulgarian.

Lauren Matacio (Head, Bibliographic Services Department) presented a paper entitled "Library Liaison Programs in the 21st Century," to the annual conference of the Association of Seventh-day Adventist Librarians at Universidad Adventista del Plata, Argentina, June 30, 2002. The paper addressed the impact of post-modernism and technology on library service within the context of a Library Liaison Program.

SUPER WEB SITE

Can you name a single source for all of the following?

- Dietary guidelines for Americans
- The best place to live in the Midwest
- Today's dollar exchange rates for any country
- Directory of Better Business Bureaus
- Aviation safety information for a particular aircraft model
- Weather forecast for any travel destination
- Policies of individual colleges on student drinking
- Copy of NAFTA on US trade with Mexico
- Ranking of health care plans by user

satisfaction

- Recent Russian opinion polls re Chechnya
- Population projections for Berrien County
- Data on home schooling trends
- News reports on current scams
- Crash test results for all cars since 1975 ... & thousands of other topics!

Answer: A valuable new website produced by the University of Michigan Documents Center entitled Statistical Resources on the Web covers everything from A to Z, both domestic and international. It is easy to use, and has a very good sidebar index. Look for it on the library's home page by clicking Online Resources then choosing the alphabetical list of web sites.

Contributors to this issue of UNCLASSIFIED are Keith Clouten, Kathy Demsky, Jim Ford and Lauren Matacio.
Editor: Wanda Cantrell

UNCLASSIFIED is edited and produced by the James White Library Director's Office. Published in October, February, and May. Items for inclusion should reach the Director's Office by the first working day of the month of publication.