I. Title

Tradition claims that the Lemonweir River was named for a dream. Prior to the War of 1812, an Indian runner was dispatched with a war belt of wampum with a request for the Dakotas and Chippewas to meet at the big bend of the Wisconsin River (Portage). While camped on the banks of the Lemonweir, the runner dreamed that he had lost his belt of wampum at his last sleeping place. On waking in the morning, he found his dream to be a reality and he hastened back to retrieve the belt. During the 1820's, the French-Canadian fur traders called the river, La memoire - the memory.

The Lemonweir rises in the extensive swamps and marshes in Monroe County. The river divides Juneau County into two topographic areas. The region north of the Lemonweir River Valley, which comprises two-thirds of the county, is a nearly level sand plain covered with marshes and swamps. The southern one-third of the county is a rugged, highland plateau, dissected in every direction by valleys and ravines.

The river has given its name to Lemonweir Township, the East Lemonweir Lutheran Church, the Lemonweir Valley Press, etc.

INTRODUCTION

The Jacobson family emigrated from Lærdal in Sogn og Fjordane County, Norway. Sogn og Fjordane is a fylke (administrative area) of Western Norway, known for its many fjords, mountains and glaciers. Sogn og Fjordane got its present name in 1919. Until then the area was known as Nordre Bergenhus Amt, established in 1763. Sogn og Fjordane is situated 50 miles north-east of Bergen. The fylke has three major districts: Sogn in the south, Sunnfjord and Nordfjord in the north.

In 1837, the fylke was divided into local administrative units called kommunes, with their own governments. The number and borders of these units have changed over time. At present there are 26. The district of Sogn has 12 kommunes: Aurland, Balestrand, Gulen, Hyllestad, Høyanger, Leikanger, Luster, Lærdal, Sogndal, Vik and Årdal. The Sognefjord extends 130 miles inland, its deepest point being 4,000 feet.

Presently, some 107 000 inhabitants live in Sogn og Fjordane, about 2,5 % of the total Norwegian population. Between 1839 and 1924 some 43 000 people left for America.

Lærdal Township or Parish

Lærdal (Leerdahl/Leidal) kommune was established in 1837, identical to the prestegjeld (parish) at the time with the sokns (local or subparishes) Borgund, Tønjum, Hauge and Årdal. In 1860 Årdal became a kommune in its own right. In 1864 Borgund was established as a kommune. In 1964 Borgund again became part of Lærdal kommune. There are three sokns in Lærdal today: Borgund, Tønjum and Hauge.

Borgund Stave Church

The Borgund Parish has a medieval "stav-kirker," one of the wooden churches of the inland districts that are unique to Norway. The Borgund stave church was built beside what was once one of the major pack roads between east and west. The road fell into disuse when the bubonic plague wiped out most of the local population in the fourteenth century.

Set against a forest backdrop, the church, with stepped roofs and angular gables, black with age, dates from 1150 and originally had no windows. Much of the church's medieval appearance has been preserved, its tiered exterior decorated by tarred wooden shingles and dragon and Christian cross finials, and culminating in a slender ridge turret. This small turret on the ridge of the roof above the nave held the little bell. The great bells were in a separate belfry (stoepul) near the lych-gate (a roofed gateway to the churchyard).

To strengthen the building, and shield the walls against storms and rain, an open arcade or “cloisterway” (svalgang), with low arches opening outward, runs round the outside of the church like a rickety wooden gallery. In this covered way, men deposited their axes and swords before entering church. It was also used as a meeting-place, for drawing up legal documents, for parish councils, arbitration meetings, and the like.

Over the doorway are runic inscriptions. The doors sport a swirling intensity of carved animals and foliage. Inside, the dark, pine-scented nave is framed by the upright, wooden posts that define this style of church architecture. A hole at one end of the church was used by lepers, who watched the service from outside. It was in use until 1870. Regarded as the most typical and best preserved in Norway, it is dedicated to St. Andrew.

The 29 surviving stave churches represent Norway’s most distinctive architectural feature, a sort of first step, spiritually and architecturally, into Christianity, without complete relinquishment of pagan beliefs. They parallel Viking ships, as they are built of strips of wood laid edge to edge rather than in log cabin style. The “staves” are very thick heavy pieces of wood, something between a small plank and a small beam, cut out of a log, and hewn flat, by means of axes. The roofs were peaked with what appears to be oriental decoration. The black color is the result of ancient pitch waterproofing.

Gard

The gard (farm) was the basic unit of the old Norwegian society. We can define a gard as a geographical unit where one or several families lived. Most of the people also had their work at the gard where they lived. For Americans searching family in Sogn og Fjordane (and generally in Norway), the use of gard names as family names may cause problems.

Up to around 1890, the gard names were not only family names, but more often they were used as addresses. If for instance a boy was baptized Ole and the name of the father was Anders, he became Ole Andersson (son of Anders). A girl baptized Anne with a father named Anders, became Anne Andersdotter (daughter of Anders). If the parents of Ole, at the time of Ole's birth, lived at the gard Hovland, Ole would be known as Ole Andersson Hovland. Hovland denoting the place (gard) where Ole lived. If Ole later on moved and settled at another gard, for instance at Moen, he would be known as Ole Andersson Moen. Moen then becoming his new family name and address. In this way a person could change his address (and family name) many times during a lifetime.

This practice is often bewildering for Americans searching family in Norway, having a specific gard name as a starting point for the research. When the parson or the harbor authorities in Norway wrote down the name of an emigrant, they mostly included the gard name (address) at the time of departure. A person living most of his life at a gard called Hovland, but living at the time of emigration at the gard Moen, would have been put down in the church records as leaving from Moen. A problem may occur when the immigrant coming to America took another gard name as family name than shown in the passenger lists. A person emigrating as a Natvik (gard in Årdal) might in America become an Offerdal (another gard name in Årdal). This change could depend on the time a person had lived on a gard, or he might choose as his permanent family name in America the name of the gard he was born at.

Husmann

A man who lived in a cottage on a gard (farm) as a renter, at a site called a 'husmannsplass', or just 'plass'. Usually the husmann had some petty gard land of his own. He had specific labor duties on the gard. There were many 'husmannsplassar' in Sogn og Fjordane.

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

I have numbered each individual traced in this genealogy beginning with Guttorm Jacobson Berge as # 1. Each person is numbered consecutively from him. I try to leave unused numbers to allow expansion of the genealogy. Each generation is numbered beginning with Guttorm as generation # 1 and ending with the children of Glenn Onsager as generation # 5.

To find the parents of Glenn Onsager, look for the number assigned to him among the children of those making up generation # 4. For each family group, only those children with numbers in front of their names are traced further in this genealogy. To aid you in determining your ancestor in each generation, I have included the family chart at the beginning with the number of each direct ancestor after their name.

Extra pages have been left after the last generation for additional information. The illustrations and maps have been added to give you a sense of place.

This book is dedicated to Glenn Onsager and his daughter, Georgia, who inspired me to put this little book together.

FIRST GENERATION

Guttorm Jakobson Berge

1 Guttorm was born in 1772 in the Borgund subparish, Lærdal Parish, Sogn og Fjordane County, Norway. The Lærdal Bygdebok gives the Berge farm as his probable birthplace but his parents have not been identified. In 1798, Guttorm fathered a daughter by Brita Johannesdr. Laai.

In the 1801 census for Leirdahl Township, Guttorm Jacobsen, 29, an unmarried hired man, was working on the Næse farm in Borgens parish. Britte Johansdr., an unmarried lodger, was living on the Qvamme Nedre farm in the Borgens (Borgund) parish with her illegitimate daughter, Gertru Gutormsdr., age 2. Guttorm and Britte had a second child, Jacob, in 1803.

Brita, the daughter of Johannes Ingebrigtsen Laai and Gjertrud Ivarsdr. Hillestad, was born about 1770 in Lærdal Township (1772/3, 1801 census). Johannes and Gjertrud can not be located in the 1801 census. Brita died in 1858.

Guttorm, a bachelor, was engaged on July 30, 1809 and was married on September 24, 1809 to Marta Kristensdr. (Christensdr.) Rikheim (Richum). Marta/Marita, the daughter of Kristen Kristofferson Teigolo, Raa (1730-1801) and Brita Larsdr. Lærdalsoeyri (1738-1794), was born about 1778 in Lærdal. In 1801, Maritte Christensdr., 23, was an unmarried servant on the Biørkum Søndre farm, Tøniums subparish, Leirdahl parish, Nordre Bergenhuus County, Norway.

Guttorm had a husmann place under Hatleberg in 1814 and Eggjo in 1817. He lived on the Odden husmann place on the Hegg farm in 1820. Guttorm died in 1828. Marta died in 1853 (LB, v. 1, pp. 518, 532; v. 3, p. 93).

In the 1870 census, Gertrude Ericson, 71, born in Norway, was living in Greenwood Township with her son Guttorm. Goodrich Ericson, 34, born in Norway, a farmer with $600 in real estate and $250 in personal property, is listed as head of household # 26/26 in the 1870 census for Greenwood Township, Vernon County, Wisconsin with Rachel, 24, b. THIRD GENERATION

Guttorm Einarson/Goodrich Erickson

9 Guttorm, the son of Einar Erikson Lai and Gjertrud Guttormsdr. Berge (2), was born August 12, 1835 in Lærdal Township. He grew up with his parents on a husmann place under the Eggjo farm in Lærdal. Gutorm Einars. Eggjo left Lærdal for America on April 23, 1857 at age 21 (Lærdal Bygdebok, v. 1, pp. 397-8; Migration records, www.sffarkiv.no).

Guttorm appears in the 1860 census for Blue Mounds Township, Dane County, Wisconsin as a 23 year-old farm laborer with $85 in personal property living in the Kittel Towson household. He used the name Guttorm Enerson. Guttorm used the name Goodrich E. Erikson when he enlisted in Company G, 15th Wisconsin Regiment on December 16, 1861. His residence was given as Blue Mounds.

The 15th was known as the "Scandinavian Regiment" because its soldiers were almost all immigrants who had been born in Norway, Sweden, and Denmark. Company G called itself the Rock River Rangers after the river that ran through the counties where its members were residents. The company was primarily recruited from Scandinavian communities in the Towns of Belleville, Blue Mound, and Primrose in Dane County, Dodgeville in Iowa County, and Beloit and Clinton in Rock County, all in the state of Wisconsin.

Goodrich was promoted to corporal on January 17, 1863. He was with the provision transport from Stevenson, Alabama on October 13, 1863. Goodrich was seriously wounded in his right arm at the Battle of Atlanta on July 21, 1864 and sent to hospital. He was mustered out of service on January 13, 1865 when his term expired. Goodrich filed for a pension as an invalid on February 21, 1889, application no. 69079, certificate no. 455631 (Civil War Database, Vesterheim Norwegian American Museum; Ancestry.com).

Guttorm was married on April 3, 1865 at the Perry Church to his second cousin, Randi Einarson. Nelson [Vetti (Eggjo) in Laerdal Bygdebok]. The witnesses were Jacob Jacobson and Christian Jacobson. Randi, the daughter of Einar Nelson Kvame and Guri Paulsdatter Sprakehaugen, was born on July 10, 1846 in Lærdal Township, Sogn og Fjordane County, Norway. Her family took the name Nelson in America.

Randi and Guttorm joined the Greenwood Church in July 1865 (members # 31 and 32). They probably accompanied Randi's parents from Perry Township, Dane County, Wisconsin.

Goodrich Ericson, 34, b. Nor, a farmer with $600 in real estate and $250 in personal property, is listed as head of household # 26/26 in the 1870 census for Greenwood Township, Vernon County, Wisconsin with Rachel, 24, b. Nor, keeping house, Jane, 5, b. WI, at home, Gerty, 1, b. WI, at home, Gertrude, 71, b. Nor, at home. Their post office was Viroqua. The census was enumerated on August 15, 1870. Gertrude was Goodrich's mother.

Goodrich Erickson, 46, b. Nor, a farmer, is listed as head of household # 186/186 in the 1880 census for Greenwood Township, Vernon County, Wisconsin with his wife, Rachel, 35, b. Nor, keeping house, daughters, Jane, 13, b. WI, Gerty, 11, b. WI, sons, Edward, 8, b. WI, Einer, 5, b. WI, and Erick, 1, b. WI, mother, Jane, 81, b. Nor. The census was enumerated on June 23, 1880.

Goodrich and Randi moved to Trempealeau County, Wisconsin. Goodrich E. Erikson is listed in the Special census for surviving soldiers, sailors, and marines, and widows, etc. taken in June 1890 for Preston Township, Trempealeau County, Wisconsin. His post office was in Blair. Goodrich was a member of Company G, 15th Wisconsin Regiment. He enlisted in December 1861 and was discharged in January 1865.

Goodrich E. Erickson, 64, b. Aug 1835 in Nor, emig, 1857, married 35 years, a farmer, is listed as head of household # 179/190 in the 1900 census for Osseo Village, Sumner Township, Trempealeau County, Wisconsin with his wife, Randi, 53, b. July 1846 in Nor, emig, 1854, married 35 years, 9 pregnancies, 7 living children, sons, Einer N., 24, b. Dec 1875 in WI, a farm laborer, Erik G., 21, b. Apr 1879 in WI, Karl J., 8 (18), b. Feb 1896 in WI, parents b. in Nor & WI, and Rhoda Wraolstad, 1, b. Jan 1898 in WI, parents b. in Nor & WI. Goodrich owned a mortgage free farm. The census was enumerated on June 19 & 20, 1900.

Goodrich E. Erickson, 74, b. Nor, a farmer, married 45 years, is listed as head of household # 99/99 in the 1910 census for Sumner Township, Trempealeau County, Wisconsin with his wife, Randia, 68, b. Nor, married 45 years, 9 pregnancies, 7 living children, son Erick G., 30, b. WI, single, at home, daughter, Ida B., 22, b. WI.

Randi died before 1920. In 1920, Goodrich was living with his daughter and son-in-law. Gunder M. Holman, 34, b. WI, parents b. Norway, a farmer, is listed as head of household # 43/43 in the 1920 census for Cleveland Township, Jackson County, Wisconsin with his wife, Ida B., 31, b. WI, parents b. Johannes and his sons took the name Johnson. He died on September 18, 1879. His funeral service was on October 5, 1879. Martha died on December 23, 1881 and was buried on December 27, 1827. They were both buried in the Greenwood Cemetery (LB, v. 1, pp. 86-7, 189, 413-4, 430, 712; GCR; Luster Aarbok, 1994).

6 Anders, the son of Johannes Torstensen Nesbakken, Maristova (Johannes Johnson) and Marta Olsdr. Nedre Hegg (1), was born on November 24, 1842 in Laerdal Township. He emigrated with his parents in 1857. Anders served in the Civil War. He was married on August 17, 1870 in Greenwood to Britha Jacobsen (see Jacobson Family # 15 above). Anders and Britha joined the Greenwood Lutheran Church on April 17, 187(3?). Anders died on March 25, 1889. He was buried on March 28, 1889 (LB, v. 1, pp. 430, 613; GCR; Luster Aarbok, 1994, p. 30).

Second Generation in America

Barbro (Betsey) Johnson

7 Barbra, the daughter of Johannes Torstensen Nesbakken, Maristova (Johannes Johnson) and Marta Olsdtr. Nedre Hegg (47), was born on July 1, 1845 in Laerdal Township.. She emigrated with her family from Laerdal in March 1857. Her parents joined the Greenwood Church as charter members on August 26, 1863. Barbro was married in 1869 to Nils Einarson Nelson.

Nils, the son of Einar Kvame Nelson and Guri Paulsdatter Sprakehaugen, was born on January 18, 1841 in Borgund Parish, Lærdal Township, Sogn og Fjordane County, Norway. He emigrated with his parents at age 12. They settled first in Perry Township in Dane County, Wisconsin where Nils readily found employment as a farm laborer. He was living with his parents on a farm in Perry Township in 1860.

On November 8, 1861, when he was just 20, Nils enlisted under the name Nils Einarson in Company H, Fifteenth Regiment, Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry by Captain Ingmundson at Madison, Wisconsin. Nils was 5 feet, 6 1/2 inches tall, and had blue eyes, light hair, and a light complexion. He was mustered into service on February 13, 1862 by Captain Lamott at Camp Randall in Madison.

Known as the "Norwegian Regiment," the Fifteenth Regiment was organized by Hans Christian Heg. In December, the regiment was brought together at Camp Randall in Madison and built up to a membership of approximately 900. Each enlistee received a bounty of a hundred dollars, and thirteen dollars a month, free food, and free clothes. Private Bersven Nelson left notes of their experiences at Camp Randall. They drilled some two or three hours in the forenoon and again in the afternoon. On Sunday's there was a break in their training. They were marched into town to the church. The minister there, Pastor Herman A. Preus, preached to them. Conditions at Camp Randall were not the best. Both the sleeping quarters and the dining hall were built of plain boards, with walls of only single thickness. There was a large stove but it was of little use against the severe cold. The dining hall was a structure containing ten tables, each large enough to accommodate a hundred men. There were no chairs and they had to stand while they ate. The kitchen was at one end of the hall. The food was not the best but it was no use to complain. They had to eat what was served or starve.

On March 2, 1862, they marched to the Madison railroad station and left for the south. The vast majority were Norwegians. Olsens, Johnsons, Nelsons, Petersons, and Hansens were numerous, and in the regiment as a whole there were 128 men who bore the first name of "Ole." A tremendous number of Norwegians had met at the railroad station to say good-bye to husbands, sons, brothers, and sweethearts. When the train started, there was a waving of hats and handkerchiefs.

The Fifteenth Regiment participated in the Union movements in Missouri, Kentucky, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, and Georgia. It fought at Island No. 10, Perryville, Murfreesboro, Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Resaca, New Hope Church, Kenesaw Mountain, and other places.

Nels suffered a gunshot wound on January 1, 1863 in the battle at Stones River (or Murfreesboro) (Dec 31, 1862 - Jan 2, 1863) and lay in the hospital at Nashville, Tennessee for six months. He was in the act of loading his gun when a ball from an enemy gun passed back of his neck, entering his arm below the elbow, fracturing the bone. The regiment lost eighty-five in dead and wounded at Murfreesboro. Nels rejoined the regiment at Murfreesboro, Tennessee in May 1863 and at the battle of Chickamauga, in northern Georgia, September 18-20, 1863, was taken prisoner (he was reported as missing in action on September 20, 1863, according to Wisconsin Archives). On November 18, 1863, he was reported "gained from missing in action". At Chickamauga, the Fifteenth Regiment was torn apart by an overwhelming attack and Colonel Hans C. Heg was among the many who were killed.

Nels and his future brother-in-law, Anders Johnson, were confined in Confederate prisons for seventeen months. Initially, they were at prisons located in Richmond and Danville, Virginia,. While at Danville, Nels succeeded, with a few companions (including Anders Johnson?), in digging with wooden shovels a hole under the prison wall and escaped. He was soon recaptured and taken to the renowned Andersonville Prison, where he spent six months (March or April - September 1864?). Forty-three men of his regiment died at Andersonville. Nels suffered from scurvy while at Andersonville.

Andersonville, properly named Camp Sumpter, was located 7 miles northeast of Americus, Georgia. The prison consisted of a log stockade of 16 1/2 acres (later expanded to 26 acres) with a stream of water running through it. Rations were the same as those of the Confederate soldier in the field, corn meal, beans, and rarely meat. The disease and death rates were fantastic, with poor sanitation, crowding, exposure, and inadequate diet contributing to the unhealthful conditions. Only enlisted men were confined there, and in the summer of 1864 the number, including Nels, totaled 32,899. There are 12,912 graves in the National Cemetery there, and estimates place the number of deaths at a much higher figure. When Major General William T. Sherman and his command approached in September 1864, all well prisoners were sent to Charleston, South Carolina. Major Henry Wirz became commandant of the prison in January 1864. In November 1865, he was executed by the federal government for his part in permitting Andersonville's intolerable conditions--the "sole execution because of the war" (source: The Civil War Dictionary by Mark M. Boatner, III, 1959).

John Heery of Mauston, my great uncle, told me that Nels told of entertaining himself at Andersonville by collecting fleas in a bottle and watching them fight. He also told John that when a man gave up he simply walked across a line and was shot by the guards. Subsequently Nels was taken to Charleston and Florence, South Carolina (September 1864?), where he again suffered from scurvy and then to Richmond again where he was paroled. He then became sick with typhoid fever and was sent to the hospital at Annapolis, Maryland. In December 1864, Nels was sent to Harvey Hospital in Madison, Wisconsin where he was treated for scurvy. From there he went on a furlough and was finally mustered out at Madison, Wisconsin on July 6, 1865 (National Archives records give April 20, 1865 as the date he left the service). The Fifteenth Regiment had 49 men killed in action, 33 die of wounds, and 217 die of disease.

When Nels entered the army, he weighed about 185 pounds and when honorably discharged at Madison four years later, he tipped the scales at 95 pounds--the result of sickness, exposure, and prison life. Because of the wound he received, Nels was partially disabled in his work as a farmer. As soon as he regained a portion of his lost strength, Nels engaged in farming and in 1866 purchased his father's 160 acre farm on section 26 in Greenwood for $1,000. See the agreement Nels signed in the account of Einar Nelson above.

Nels and Barbro's marriage and the birth of their first child are not recorded in the Greenwood Church records. Nelson Iner, 28, b. Nor, a farmer, is listed as head of household # 28/28 in the 1870 census for Greenwood Township, Vernon County, Wisconsin with Betsy, 28, b. Nor, keeping house, Gerty G., 2/12, b. WI, at home, Ole Johnson, 19, b. Nor, farm laborer, and Nels Johnson, 15, b. Nor, at home. The census was enumerated on August 15, 1870. Their post office was in Viroqua. Nels and Barbro were living next to his parents, Iner and Julia Nelson.

N. E. Nelson, 38, b. Nor, a farmer, is listed as head of household # 82/82 in the 1880 census for Greenwood Township, Vernon County, Wisconsin with his wife, Betsy, 34, b. Nor, keeping house, daughter, Gerty M., 10, b. WI, attended school, sons, James A., 5, b. WI, Edward, 3, b. WI, daughters, Clarry, 2, b. WI, Randenia, 8/12, and mother-in-law, Martha Johnson, 73, b. Nor, keeping house, cancer in right (Breast?). The census was enumerated on June 14/15, 1880.

Nels applied for a disability pension on June 28, 1898. Nels Nelson, 58, b. Jan 1842 in Nor, married 31 years, emigrated 1855, a farmer, owned a mortgage free farm, is listed as head of household # 162/163 in the 1900 census for Greenwood Township, Vernon County, Wisconsin with his wife, Betsy, 55, b. July 1844 in Nor, married 31 years, 11 pregnancies, 6 living children, son, Bert, 26, b. June 1873 in WI, single, a farm laborer, daughter, Martha, 14, b. Apr 1886 in WI, at school, and son, Neuman, 11, b. Oct 1888 in WI, at school. The census was enumerated on June 25, 1900.

On April 11, 1905, Nels and Betsy transferred 40 acres to her name (NW 1/4, SW 1/4, Section 34, for inheritance?). Nels E. Nelson, 68, b. Nor, emig, 1854, married 40 years, a farmer, operating a general farm, is listed in the 1910 census for Greenwood Township, Vernon County, Wisconsin with his wife, Betsy, 65, b. Nor, emig, 1858, married 40 years, daughter, Martha, 24, b. WI, single, and son, Neuman, 21, b. WI, farm laborer on home farm. The census was enumerated on April 18, 1910.

After leaving the farm, Betsy and Nels lived in the community of Hillsboro, Vernon County, Wisconsin. Betsy probably died in February or March of 1911. In March, her children each transferred their interest in the 40 acres that was in Betsy's name to Nels for $1.00 each. On March 10, 1911, Mrs. Gertie Smidt (Sundt), daughter living in Stoughton; on March 11, 1911, Burt Nilsen and wife Mable Nilsen of Tomahawk; on March 16, 1911, Mrs. Clara Anderson, daughter living in Minneapolis; and on March 27, 1911, Newman Nelson, Anna, his wife; and Martha Nelson, all heirs of Betsy Nelson transferred the land.

Nels, a widower, sold his land to Thomas H. Severson for $9,000. In April 1911, Nels moved to 702 Clyde Street in Stoughton, Wisconsin. He died on January 12, 1913 in Stoughton.
