Adam and Christ as Priests

Adam and Christ are both considered as priests in the Bible. Adam was the first priest and Christ was the high priest. This is not to say that they were ordained priests in the traditional sense, but rather that they both fulfilled the role of priest in a spiritual sense.

Adam as Priest

Adam was the first priest because he was created in the image of God and was given the responsibility to care for the garden of Eden. He was also given the responsibility to obey God's commandments, which he failed to do.

Christ as Priest

Christ fulfilled the role of priest through His earthly ministry. He was anointed as a priest on the Mount of Olives (Lk 1:32-33) and appointed as the King (Jn 18:37). He was floatingly presented as the one ‘raised up’ (Ps 110:1) and as the Great High Priest (Heb 7:27). Christ's sacrifice on the cross is the ultimate sacrifice that paid for our sins.

Conclusion

Adam and Christ are both considered as priests in the Bible, each in a different sense. Adam was the first priest because he was created in the image of God, while Christ was the high priest because he fulfilled the role of priest through his earthly ministry and sacrifice on the cross.
