8-2014

God’s Power Touches Lives in Cuba

L. Fernando Ortiz
Andrews University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.andrews.edu/luh-pubs

Part of the Practical Theology Commons

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.andrews.edu/luh-pubs/136

This Student Stories is brought to you for free and open access by the Lake Union Herald at Digital Commons @ Andrews University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Lake Union Herald by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Andrews University. For more information, please contact repository@andrews.edu.
God’s power touches lives in Cuba

Michigan—The great transforming power of Christ was evident on the Cuba Study Tour organized by the Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary. During the spring tour, 50 people decided to be baptized and another 200 accepted the Lord for the first time. Great things happen when youth work for the Lord serving other youth.

“I had the privilege of being an instrument of God through the evangelistic crusade ‘Hope for Today.’ The transforming power of God was visible in the lives of many people, including Mitchel, a 20-year-old man who came to one of our six evangelistic meetings. Mitchel came the first Friday night and said he had told his friends if they were true friends and loved him they would come with him. Several youth came with him night after night to hear the word of God,” stated Ruth Rivera, an M.Div. student at the Seminary.

The meetings started with the importance of the Bible as the source of truth and continued with the Sabbath as a special day, among other crucial truths about the gospel of salvation.

“Day by day, I surrendered myself to God as one of the speakers, asking for his help and guidance to be able to work for the people. On Wednesday, we went to Mitchel’s home to talk with him. He was not in, so we visited with his mother. When we asked if she would come to the meetings, she was hesitant, but when we asked if she had seen any change in her son since he began attending the meetings, a smile shone on her face,” Rivera said.

“Yes!” she said immediately. “Before he went to the meetings, we had serious arguments. Now, every time we disagree, instead of fighting with me, he goes to his room and reads the Bible.”

Reflecting on her son’s change allowed her to see the importance of attending the meetings and supporting his decision to change his way of life. That night Mitchel and his mother attended the meeting together.

“Night by night, as I appealed the people to give their lives to Christ, the Spirit of the Lord was telling me I had to keep calling. As I made the final appeal, I saw Mitchel struggle to give his heart to Christ. Then I asked those who wanted to surrender their lives completely to Christ to stand up during my last prayer,” Rivera said.

Mitchel stood up that night, but he did not do it alone; his mother also decided to give her heart to Christ.

“After that night, we visited Mitchel and his mother again. I encouraged them on the great decision they had made, and we had a special prayer for God to seal their decision. Throughout the week, Mitchel invited friends to the meetings. But because God knows our deepest needs and does not give up on us, the last Friday of the evangelistic meetings Mitchel could not run away from God’s call anymore.

“I remember that day I asked God to use me to reach the deep fibers of any human heart so God could make them feel the freedom they needed. As I started the appeal, God kept showing me the people I needed to look at and call. I prayed within me for God to tell me the things his [children] needed and, one by one, even the struggling ones started to come to the front. When Mitchel came up front, he was crying as if he was in pain. We prayed over him for the great freedom God wanted to bring into his life,” Rivera commented.

On Sabbath morning during the last appeal, Mitchel was so happy to come up front as a sign of his desire for baptism.
Glendale Church serves at community shelter

Lake Region—People Serving People is the largest, most comprehensive, family-focused shelter in Minnesota. What distinguishes People Serving People from other emergency shelters is the broad range of on-site programs and services designed to address common barriers facing homeless families. Its ultimate goal is to permanently end a family’s homelessness with one visit to the shelter (see http://peopleservingpeople.org/).

Every fourth Sabbath of the month, Glendale Church members in Minneapolis, under the leadership of Michael Gilbreath, volunteer in the PSP dining room by serving meals to the residents. Glendale has volunteered at PSP for the past five years. “We are very excited to give back to our community and to honor God’s Word,” stated Gilbreath.

As they serve, Glendale Church volunteers are reminded of Jesus’ words in Matthew 25:34–40: Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, ‘Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: For I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me.’ Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, ‘Lord, when saw we thee an hungred, and fed thee? or thirsty, and gave thee drink? When saw we thee a stranger, and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee? Or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee?’ And the King shall answer and say unto them, ‘Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me’ (KJV).

“By the Lord working through us, we are willing and able to do what the Lord requires of us,” stated Gilbreath.

Ruth D. Rivera, M.Div. student, as told to L. Fernando Ortiz, director of the M.Div. program, Andrews University Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary

Notes: The Glendale Church in Minneapolis is a constituent church of the Lake Region Conference.