

P.L.A.Y (Promoting Learning to Active Youth)

Why is play important to Youth

- Developing social skills through play
  - explore their feelings
  - work out emotional aspects of life
- Playing in an academic setting
  - not all students can learn the same
- Play and challenge
  - Riding a bicycle
  - swimming
- Play and digital technology
  - Technology free zones

Play-based Learning

The idea of play-based learning is to provide opportunities for children to explore and learn about the world and community they live in.

Examples of Play in the classroom:

- When students don't pay attention for long periods of time
- When the class possibly earns play through schoolwork
- When a student with certain characteristics need to learn

Why is play important in learning

- Play in the classroom helps students in subjects like mathematics, language, and early literacy.
- children from different income environments.
- Kids from all backgrounds and cultures can come together through learning by playing together
- It teaches kids communication skills for their future