

Pathfinder Day at Andrews University

Join us on August 11, 2019, as you travel to the International Pathfinder Camporee

Campus News | Posted on February 7, 2019

The globe at the entrance of Andrews University (Photo by Darren Heslop, University Communication staff photographer)

By: Rebecca May, director, campus relations

On Sunday, Aug. 11, 2019, Andrews University will host Pathfinder Day for Pathfinders traveling to the International Pathfinder Camporee.

Activities include exploring the 2,200 acres of Andrews University's main campus with a botanist, breakfast at the Airpark hangar and learning about the Andrews treasures in campus museums. Guests can choose to participate in hands-on projects with architecture staff and hayrides to the bountiful orchards. They will also have the opportunity to sing the Pathfinder song in the world-class Howard Performing Arts Center and worship together on the international flag mall.

Space is limited to the first 1,000 Pathfinders. Please visit andrews.edu/rsvp/pathfinder to make your reservation. Once your reservation is confirmed, you will receive a schedule as well as information about meals and sleeping arrangements.

Andrews University is located 85 miles from Battle Creek, Michigan, and the Historic Adventist Village.